The Mystery of a Stein-Bloch Fitting

It is that to us. We have seen men come to our mirrors with an incredulous smile and look at themselves for the first time in their lives dressed in STEIN-BLOCH ready-for-service clothes.

The smile we have seen fade away to a look of surprise. They saw style in that reflection of themselves--style and a fit that meant business.

You can be fitted in just that way. You will never believe the price until you see it is true.

Suits $20 to $40.

Overcoats $16.50 to $30.00.

Duofof Union Suits for Men $4.

In regard to the article appearing in the Herald yesterday, on the construction of the new Elred building, giving credit to Conrad credit for the rapidity of the work, we wish to state that that article was given out by Mr. Conrad himself and that he attributed to himself the credit due to him. The contractors, Mr. Conrad was in no way responsible for the work, as there are several men employed on the building, who are above Mr. Conrad in ability.

Andrew Dawson had charge of all form work, Conrad simply superintended the laying of the iron work and the running in of the concrete after it was prepared and put on the building.

credit for quick work. In fact, more time has been expended than necessary, had the samples been processed without delay.

Engine 3601 Converted at Local Shops Hauls Heavies; Tonnage Ever Handled on Three Per Cent Grade.

The local shops have the credit of turning out the engine which recently handled the heaviest tonnage ever handled on a three per cent grade by any locomotive. The train was handled in California by engine 3601, and the convoy made from Cajon Pass up to Summit. The train weighed 16,000 to 18, 000 tons, which is the largest in the world.

The train weighed 11,000 tons and consisted of 26 loads and nine empties.

The 25 miles of the pass to Summit was covered in three hours and 45 minutes, including about 45 minutes meeting three passenger trains, which is the average time or possibly slightly better.

The train pulled out by the 3601 at San Bernardino at 10:10 a. m. and at 1:55 the conductor registered it at Summit.

The return to the city was made by another train of Summit for the remainder of the trip to Barstow, and the 3601 arrived at 4 o'clock.

A party of officials, including others, Superintendent J. B. Hinckley, Conductor J. H. Galvan, Master Mechanic L. C. Hicks, Supervisor of Shops H. S. Wall, General Foreman A. G. Semmens, made the trip and were highly pleased with the performance of the engine. The work with the heavy train up the steep grade between Cajon and Summit was even greater than the expectation of the officials.

It was decided to put the big engine through the severest kind of a test by sending it back up the hill after its arrival and at 5:30 it pulled out in one of the engines in a train of 14,000 tons, which consisted of 18 loads and 10 empties. Greater tonnage could not have been handled with ease, but owing to the number of empties it was difficult to make the train of any greater length. The trip was made in three hours and 28 minutes, arriving at Summit at 9:10 p.m.
